KEEP HIGHWAYS CLEAN IS PLEA OF COUNTY RESIDENT

Above is shown a picture taken by Mr. J. Roland Weston showing how trash is dumped on the shoulders of the highway. Below is a letter from Mr. Weston asking travelers to keep the highways clean.

March 23, 1951
Mr. J. Roland Weston, Editor
Bay St. Louis, Miss.

I am moved to write you of a condition that is becoming increasingly worse on our highways. That is the dumping of garbage, refuse, etc., along the sides of our main roads. Part of Highway 90, because it is a main road, is a big problem. I have seen a lot of trash dumped along the sides of the road. I feel like there are enough people who care about the highways to write you of this. I am sure you will do something about it. I am sure you will do something about it. I am sure you will do something about it.

The people who throw their trash on our highways are too lazy and shiftless to walk even 50 or 100 feet to the edge of the tallgrass or woods to put it down—where possibly it might not be seen.

I am not a person that believes in making a law to correct every bad condition but certainly something needs to be done to correct this condition. We want to be proud of our Highway Department and we also want to help the Highway Department to save maintenance costs so that the money can be used in construction of new roads.

With best regards, I remain,
Cordially yours,
Roland Weston, Jr.

368 WOULD WORK IN PROPOSED GARMENT PLANT

Up to Wednesday, April 5, according to a statement by Mayor Warren Carver, approximately three hundred and sixty-eight persons, male and female, had registered for work in the proposed garment plant, which, if plans work out, may be located in Bay St. Louis. It was announced today that registrations are still open at City Hall for those who have not done so and wish employment in this enterprise.

Officials of the proposed company are due to visit here on Monday, April 9th, to further discuss the location of the plant. This is what Bay St. Louis needs and the people should do all in their power to encourage its locating here and if we land it to keep it here.

A plant of this kind with a payroll of from three to five hundred persons would be a wonderful thing for our town and if successful may encourage others to locate here.

LITTLE THEATRE TRYOUTS FOR "RAIN"

Try-outs were held on Tuesday, April 3 at the Bay St. Louis Little Theatre on the forthcoming production, "Rain," written by Somerset Maugham.

Mrs. Caroline Kiefer will direct the play and she has chosen characters with an experienced eye. "Rain" is a gripping drama which must be enacted to perfection in order to give it the proper scope. Myrtle Stiefel has been selected to do the role of Sadie Thompson and she is capable of handling it in a clever manner; Philip Allison will give another portrayal; Johann Craft adds to the distinction of the performance her interpretation of Mrs. Davidson; N. L. Carter as Dr. Mac Phail will be a drawing card in himself; Vicki Hill as Amena the Polynesian wife of Trader Horn, as played by Dr. Harold Keefe, offers another promising part to this play. Paul Tourne as the handsome O'Hara adds more definite talent. Other participants in the play will be announced later.

Somerset Maugham is one of the world's most illustrious authors. Mr. Maugham has woven this story of the tragedies of human soul into one of the greatest stories of all times, dealing with his characters in such a manner that broad-minded audiences acclaimed it a smashing success 25 years ago and clamored to see it again.

Mrs. Maugham has to his credit such successes as "Razor's Edge," "Of Human Bondage," and "The Moon and Sixpence."

Rehearsals will begin next Monday at the Little Theatre.

FARMERS REALIZE BOOST FOR GOODS

State College, Miss.—Miss. farmers got 48 per cent more for their product last February than a year earlier while prices of things they bought rose only 11 per cent.

Both are record highs, according to a trio of agricultural economists at the state experiment station here.

The three, W. E. Christian, D. W. Pervin and T. E. Trammel, said the February index of farm prices was 353 per cent of the 1909-14 average, the fourth consecutive month in which a new record was set. It was 1 per cent above January, they added.

Higher prices for meat animals and somewhat smaller increases in other commodities accounted for the rise.

The index of prices paid by the farmer was 276 per cent of the 1909-14 average, 1 per cent over January and 11 per cent over February, 1950.

Here are some of the comparable prices, February 1950, figures first:

Cotton 293 and 425 cents a pound; cottonseed $43.50 and $98 a ton; corn $2.25 a bushel; potatoes $2.50 and $11.35 a bushel; sweet potatoes $2.35 and $2.20 a bushel; milk $4.45 and $5.15 cwt; beef cattle $17 and $23.50 cwt; veal calves $21.60 and $29.70 cwt; hogs $15 and $20 cwt; chickens $236 and $285 a pound; eggs $318 and $48 cents a dozen; soybeans $2.35 and $2.93 a bushel.

You Can Safeguard Your Family

BY STRIKING BACK AT CANCER

The month of April has been officially designated as Cancer Control Month throughout the United States, and it is your happy privilege to help this fight against one of the most dreaded diseases we know. Medical science is busy twenty-four hours a day seeking a cure for this enemy to mankind. You can help by making your contribution to the Cancer fund today.

Tens of thousands of persons are being cured of cancer each year... but we are still losing too many people we love, fathers, mothers, and children who might have been saved by early diagnosis and prompt treatment.

All of us know cancer's tragedies, but many do not know of the great Crusade against this disease. Thousands of volunteers for the American Cancer Society throughout the country—in your state and in your town—are spreading lifesaving facts about cancer and raising funds for education, service to the patient, and research.

Join humanity's most important Crusade—the battle against man's worst enemy—cancer!

We know that we can win, for last year some 70,000 men, women and children were rescued from death. And with your help, many more can be saved.

This is no time for "token" gifts. We need more than the change you happen to have in your pocket. We need your dollar bills, your ten dollar bills and more! So think a moment before you give... think of the 22 million men, women and children now alive who will die unless our crusade succeeds. Make your gift just as important as you can.

For cancer is a challenge of terrible magnitude. To meet and master it we need more research, more educational programs. Our laboratories, equipment and skilled physicians are but a small striking force. They need—they must have—your help.

Remember that your gift guards your family, yourself and your community. So make your contribution now—and make it count!

RIVER PARKWAY STUDIED

A landscape architect and a historian of Arlington, Virginia, are in Natchez in connection with the survey of the proposed Mississippi River Parkway. The idea of a parkway which would follow the course of the Mississippi River from its beginning in Minnesota was first conceived about 1938. The 1950 Congress authorized an appropriation to make a survey along the river, and commissioned the National Park Service and the Bureau of Public Roads to do the job.

SOYBEAN PRODUCTION UP

Soybean production in Mississippi last Summer averaged 24 bushels per acre, a record equalled by only one other state, according to Dr. C. Hale Hoover, head of the agronomy department at Mississippi State College. He said soybean production in Mississippi is increasing faster than production in the Nation as a whole. "Eighty percent of Mississippi's soybean production is in the Delta," Dr. Hoover said. Last summer at the Delta Branch Experiment Station a yield of 40 bushels per acre was obtained.

PAPER FIRM TO DOUBLE

International Paper Company announced plans to double the capacity of its new dissolving pulp mill at Natchez, Mississippi. "Additions planned to the mill will be a duplicate of the present plant and will bring its total daily capacity to 600 tons of dissolving pulp," said John H. Hinman, president. BLACK MARKET TAX
COLLECTIONS SHOWN

CONTINUATION OF ECA
AID TRUMAN AIM

Washington—President Truman said he will recommend to Congress that the Economic Cooperation Administration (ECA) be maintained on a "continuing basis" to help carry out the program essential to the security of the free world.

In a statement halting the third anniversary of the Marshall plan, the president said, economic recovery in Western Europe has been "substantially achieved."

"However," he added, "with the present threat to world peace, new tasks have been imposed upon us. The free nations are now combining to convert their resources into military strength to preserve the peace and defend our freedoms."

A new ECA policy, announced by Administrator William C. Foster, calls for supplying Europe not only money and materials for expanding its economy but also for producing arms and military supplies.

COST $11 BILLION
Under existing laws the big Marshall plan agency is scheduled to close out next April. Its operations have cost the United States $11,000,000,000.

Mr. Truman said the "splendid organization" set up by ECA can be used now to help Europe prepare its defense. The president's statement was read at an ECA employees' anniversary celebration by W. Averell Harriman, special assistant to Mr. Truman and a former Marshall plan official in London.

French Foreign Minister Robert Schuman, Secretary of State Acheson and top ECA officials attended and were scheduled to speak.

Harriman said the Marshall plan will go down in history as a "great accomplishment in cooperation among free nations and free men."

Neither he nor the president, however, indicated whether ECA would be continued on its own or merged into an over-all foreign economic aid agency, embracing such things as the point-four program. This was recommended recently by a presidential advisory board headed by Nelson Rockefeller.

Mr. Truman has said the board's report would be of "great help" in drafting recommendations to Congress.

UNITED GAS AWARD
CONTRACT FOR 3-STATE
CONSTRUCTION JOBS

United Gas Pipe Line Company has awarded a $28,000,000 contract to Gulf Southern Contractors, Inc., of Ft. Worth, Texas, for construction of approximately 1000 miles of natural gas pipeline.

All of the construction work will be within the states of Texas, Louisiana and Mississippi, according to M. A. Abernathy, United Gas Vice-President. Gulf Southern is a contracting group composed of Texas-Louisiana Contractors of Ft. Worth; Oklahoma Contractors of Ft. Worth; Ray McDermott & Co., Inc., of New Orleans; and Morrison-Knudsen Co., Inc., of Boise, Idaho. Robert Thomas of Ft. Worth heads up the contracting group.

Award of Pipe line construction work to Gulf Southern Contractors follows the letting of a contract recently to Brown & Root, Inc., of Houston, covering various phases of engineering, construction and other services on the project.

The construction project was authorized under a certificate of public convenience and necessity issued by the Federal Power Commission to United Gas late in February. When completed the new facilities will provide an initial increase in the capacity of the pipe line system of approximately 920 million cubic feet of natural gas daily. Cost of the entire project is estimated to be in excess of $111,000,000.

In addition to the new lines in Mississippi, Texas and Louisiana, the construction program also provides for a 20-inch line extending approximately 15 miles into the Gulf of Mexico from the Louisiana coast. This line will tie in new reserves to United's system from the Eugene Island area. Construction at an early date of additional lines to connect with other wells in the Gulf in the same general area is also contemplated.

NOTES FROM LOCAL ORC UNIT

The local ORC unit, Company B, 302nd Amphibian Tractor Battalion met Thursday night, March 29 for an Administrative meeting. Only five reservists were present including Capt. Lewis Allen, Company Commander. Enlisted personnel present were Sgt. Samuel P. Murphy, Sgt. Stanley A. File, Sgt. Baughman and Cpl. Ott Brockman. Besides the administrative duties performed, summer khaki uniforms were put in readiness for issuance in the near future.

It has been announced that at the general pay drill, Thursday, April 5, classes in the use of the field first aid kit will be held along with study into the characteristics and general use of weapons of the Amphibian Tractor Bn. Also brought to the attention of the personnel of Company B was the fact that only three more vacancies need be filled to bring the Company to the desired Class A status. In acquiring these needed recruits, the unit will automatically begin meeting four paid drills a month instead of the present two. It would be to the advantage of any young man of Hancock County to attend one of these drills to learn the advantages of belonging to such a unit. Company B is made up of local men; instructors at the various classes held each Thursday are all members of Company B who take part in the teamwork atmosphere which prevails. Whether 17 years old with no previous military training or a veteran of World War II, there is a place for any young man who desires the fellowship obtained only through the military services offered here.

Advancement and training in any chosen field may be obtained through membership in the ORC, as in the case of one local member who favored cooking as his chosen profession. Sgt. Lazaro P. Holland left Saturday for the Army Food Service School at Ft. Benning, Ga., for a 2-month course in the preparation of food. Sgt. Holland noted the bulletin on schooling available and applied for entry into this school and was promptly accepted. He will receive invaluable instruction in the field which will stand good whether he chooses to remain in the Army or carry his services to civilian life.

From time to time there are other specialized training courses available to the aggressive members of the Reserve units who wish to "get ahead."

"Soil Conservation Important in Farming Operations"

Says Chairman Lee

Every farmer in Hancock County is urged to take a careful look at his farming operations to see if he can grow more cotton and still maintain soil conservation measures. "Every farmer who can should do so, because he is helping supply a vitally needed defense commodity," says Fitzhugh Lee, chairman of the Hancock County Agricultural Mobilization Committee. More cotton is needed for our national defense and the cotton farmer is the only one who can supply it.

Cotton was a most important raw material in helping win World War II and today cotton is second only to steel in essential national defense raw materials. Much depends on the 1951 crop of cotton. Nearly all of a 16 million bale crop in 1951 will be needed next year to supply vital needs for the staple and to help build a reserve supply. The expected carry-over, Aug. 1, 1951, will possibly be the smallest for 25 years.

The cotton acreage for Hancock County in 1950 was 30.2 acres. This must be increased by 20 acres if Hancock County is to meet its 1951 goal. The 1949 acreage was 44 acres.

M. L. Lee pointed out that our present carry-over is only 15.3 million bales. Demand for this cotton are estimated to be at least 15.3 million bales. If we had the cotton to spare, we would have no need for foreign cotton. The 1951 crop of cotton beginning August 1, 1951, is expected to be even larger than the 1950 crop. It is hoped that the cotton farmer will be able to supply the demand.

Major, county agent in the day program, is now in the field.

HOUSE PASSES BILL
ON VETS' PENSIONS

Washington—House passage sent to the Senate recently a bill liberalizing veterans' pensions for veterans of the Spanish-American war, the Philippine insurrection and the Boxer rebellion. There are now 15 rates of pension applying to these veterans. The bill would substitute just four standard rates of $60, $78, $90 and $120 a month.

The House veterans committee estimated first-year additional costs of the proposed program at $326,000.

Telephone Rounds out 75 Years of Service

On March 10, 1876, in a boarding house in Boston, the telephone carried its first intelligible message. Alexander Graham Bell, making ready to try out a new transmitter, spilled the acid from a battery on his clothes and called out: "Mr. Watson, come here; I want you!" An instant later Watson, who had been on the receiver, called out: "Mr. Bell, I heard every word you said—distinctly!"

Mississippi now has 219,145 Bell Telephones in use; 34,235 of them in rural areas.

The 75 years since the telephone's invention have seen it transformed from a toy to one of the world's most useful aids in speeding the everyday processes of factory and farm and adding to the business and social life of communities everywhere.

Today more than 85 million Bell telephones are carrying an average of 140 million two-way conversations a day, with calls being made not only from homes, offices, cars, locomotives, yachts, harbor craft, ships at sea and airplanes.

When you lift your Bell telephone to make or receive a call, you have at your service the finest and largest communications service in the world—more than 7 million dollars worth of telephones and equipment; 110 million miles of wire, three-fifths of it underground and 96 per cent of it in

U.N. CASUALTIES IN KOREA 228,941

US Losses Set at 57,120, So. Korea's, 168,852

Lake Success, N.Y.—The United Nations estimated that UN casualties in Korea since the start of hostilities last June mounted to 228,941, its "March 1951" breakdown placed American losses alone at 57,120; dead, wounded and missing.

The figures, based on a poll of the 15 nations with troops in Korea, filed the totals at: Killed in action, 25,374; wounded, 128,394; and missing, 75,173.

Combined United States and Korean Republic casualties were 225,772. South Korea suffered the highest casualty rate, 168,852.

Third on the list was Turkey, with 1169 casualties.

(The Communist New China agency claimed that UN losses in Korea totaled 75,000, including 25,000 Americans, between Jan. 25 and March 14.)

The list was the first UN tabulation of losses incurred since the start of the UN campaign to drive out the North Korean invaders in June.

The casualty rate admittedly rose after Red China's entry into the conflict last year, but it was pointed out that Communist losses have been vastly greater than those of the UN.

The 15 countries figuring in the poll are: the US, South Korea, Britain, Turkey, France, Australia, Canada, Greece, Netherlands, Africa, Belgium, Luxembourg and Thailand.

The casualties by country were: Republic of Korea, 168,852; US, 57,120; Turkey, 1169; Britain, 892; France, 396; Australia, 265; Philippines, 55; Netherlands, 112; Greece, 89; Canada, 68; New Zealand, 9; South Africa, 6; Thailand, 108. Belgium's and Luxembourg's were not tallied since their troops were not in action before March.

US losses broken down were: Killed, 8511; wounded, 37,918; missing, 10,691.

South Korea lost 16,182 dead, 88,511 wounded and 63,955 missing.

Meanwhile, UN plans for collective action against all aggressors were pushed ahead with publication of an outline listing tentative economic and military measures against an aggressor.

Economic measures included boycotts and sanctions, and expulsion from the world family of nations.

Yugoslavia's Ales Bebler, however, raised doubts about the effectiveness of a standing antiaggression measure.

The list, prepared by the UN secretariat, suggested political, aggression army or a voluntary UN legion as suggested by Secretary General Trygve Lie and seconded by the US.

Bebler said creation of an international force would raise constitutional problems and be of "doubtful" value militarily.

4-H Junior Leadership Contest Announced

Junior Leaders of 4-H Clubs in Hancock County were urged today by R. O. Monomith, state 4-H Club Leader, to take part in the 1951 statewide 4-H Junior Leadership program and contest.

This special 4-H Club competition for expense-paid trips to regional, state and national events is being sponsored for the fourth successive year by United Gas in cooperation with the Mississippi State Extension Service, Monomith announced.

A total of 334 trips will be awarded to county and state winners. One boy and one girl from each county will be awarded a trip to Training Conference to be held at the University of Mississippi, Oxford, and Copiah-Lincoln Junior College at Wesson. Two winners from each county will also be awarded a trip to the State 4-H Club Congress at Mississippi State College.

In addition, four winners from the state-at-large will be awarded trips to the National 4-H Club Camp at Washington, D. C. and one boy and one girl will be selected to represent Mississippi Junior Leaders at the National 4-H Club Congress in Chicago.

The best 4-H county council in each of the five Extension districts will receive cash awards of $50 for library fund, recreational equipment or other needs.

Winners in each category will be selected by the staff of the state Extension Service on the basis of their leadership records. Full details of the program and contests are available from the county and home demonstration agents at the office of the county agricultural extension service.

In announcing the 1951 program, Monomith said: "This fine support being given the farm youth program of Mississippi by United Gas is of tremendous value in providing added incentive to 4-H boys and girls in their wide range of individual and club projects. It helps to bring about greater achievement in 4-H work and offers a practical way for junior leaders to demonstrate the ways in which they are contributing to the betterment of their club and community."

Oil Workers Honored for Safety Record

Group winners of the 1950 safety contest conducted among employees of the Gulf Refining Company's production department in Mississippi were honored by Gulf at a luncheon in Laurel recently. Shows above are captains of the 3 winning groups. They are, left to right, T. H. Walker, captain of first place winner Group 3 from the Heidelberg oil field; D. Speights, captain of second place winner Group 7 from the Bartlett field; and H. S. Law, captain of third place winner Group 8 from the Gwinnville field. All three winning groups worked the entire period of the contest without lost time or an accident of any kind. Winners were determined by a percentage formula based on the frequency of accidents per man-hours exposed. Over 150 Gulf production employees, comprising 8 groups from 7 different oil fields, took part in the contest which is part of Gulf's comprehensive safety training program. A new contest began January 1st.

Congressional Sidelights

CONGRESSMAN WM. M. COLMER

A LITTLE MISSISSIPPI HISTORY

We all studied Mississippi History in school, but most of us have long since forgotten the lessons learned then about the role our State's representatives have played on the national stage. Davis and George and Lamar are possibly the names most often cited as example of illustrious sons of our state, but few even these names have been remembered. We all know that Jeff Davis was the President of the Confederacy, but few would recall his gallantry as a soldier in the War with Mexico, that he served as Secretary of War in the Cabinet of President Pierce, or that he was for many years a distinguished and potent representative of the State in the United States Senate. Of George and Lamar we might recall that counties are named for them or possibly that George played a major role in the constitutional convention of 1890, following Reconstruction Days, and that Lamar was on the US Supreme Bench. Most of Mississippi's other statesmen of the past are not so lucky; the names of some live on as that of some county or town, but the memory of the man is dead.

These musings were brought on by thumbing through a recently published biographical directory of the Congress from its beginning through 1949. Here are a few items gleaned from the Directory that interested us and may be of interest to others.

Mississippi's first representative in the Congress, when we were still a Territory, was one Narworthy Hunter. He served in the 7th Congress as a Delegate from the Mississippi Territory, which had been formed on April 7, 1798, from lands ceded to the United States by the States of Georgia and South Carolina. He died after serving only a year.

William Lattimore, a Doctor from Liberty, and George Poindexter, of Woodville, for whom Poindexter Park in Jackson is presumably named, took turns at serving as Delegates during the next seven Congresses.

After Mississippi was granted Statehood on December 10, 1817, Walter Leake, whose name is borne by one of our counties, and Thomas H. Williams were chosen to represent the State in the Senate and George Poindexter was its lone Congressman.

How sparsely settled the area was in those days is indicated by the fact that its representatives came either from the Mississippi River section or the Coast. The first Congressman from the interior of the State was Powhatan Ellis, who hailed from Winchester in Wayne County. He served a few months by appointment as Senator in 1825-26 and was then elected as Senator for the 20th Congress.

Many of the hometowns of our early representatives are not now important enough even to have a fourth class post office. Senator Walter Leake is listed under the 15th Congress as coming from Red Bluff, Washington, the first capital of the State and the home of many early Senators, is now only a rural community near Natchez. Westville, from which the State's Representative in the 22nd Congress, Franklin E. Plummer, came and which was then an important South Mississippi trading center and seat of government, is now just a wide place in the road in Simpson County. Gallatin, Madisonville, Plymouth, Warrenton, Palmyra, Salem, Hurricane, and Floreyville, are other communities that had their day of glory as the hometown of a number of the Congress but are no longer listed in the Postal Guide.

ALLISON ART COLONY ANNOUNCES SIXTH SESSION

The Allison Art Colony will hold its sixth session, May 4th to 14th, at Allison's Wells, according to Karl Wolfe, popular Jackson portrait painter who will direct the Colony activities.

"Whether you earn your bread and butter painting or are only beginning," said Mr. Wolfe, "you will learn and have fun at the Allison Art Colony. Artists of all ages will participate and all are urged to paint as they please and receive suggestions for improvement."

"I will conduct classes and give private lessons in portrait painting," continued Mr. Wolfe, "and Mrs. Mildred Nungester Wolfe and Miss Caroline Compton will teach classes and give private lessons in landscape, still life and flower painting."

"During the week I plan to paint one or more portraits as a demonstration of portrait technique," Mr. Wolfe stated, "and I will also repeat the demonstration of oil-color mixing which many Colony members have requested." Colony members will be sorry to learn that Mrs. Jack Barton, Colony president for two terms, has resigned due to ill health. The first business of the general meeting to be held on Sunday afternoon, May 6, therefore, will be the election of her successor.

Arrangements for the forthcoming session of the Colony are in the hands of a committee composed of Miss Ethel Ketcham, Mrs. Agnes Dickette and John Fontaine. A feature of the Colony planned by them is an Artists and Models Ball on Saturday night, May 12, to which a limited number of friends of the colony will be invited. It will be a costume affair with an orchestra and floor show.

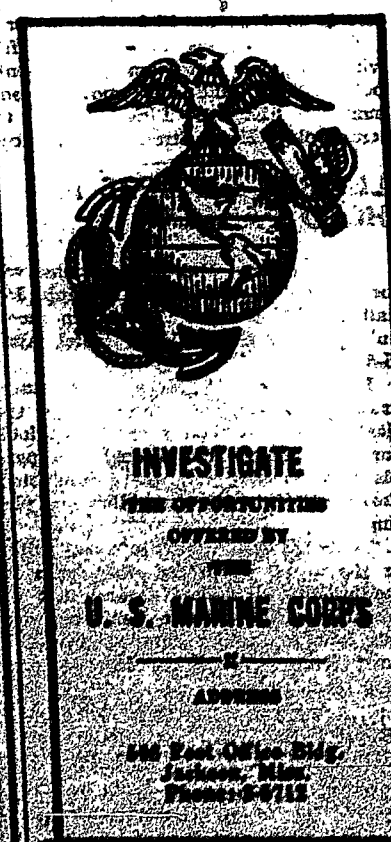

All Colony members and prospective members are urged to forward their registrations promptly to Colony headquarters at Allison's Wells, Way, Miss.

FIVE SENT TO PRISON FOR CATTLE RUSTLING

Five men were sentenced to the State Penitentiary for cattle rustling. All five entered guilty pleas and received sentences of two years and four months each in the penitentiary at Parchman. The men were charged with rustling nearly 60 head of cattle grazing on leaves in Washington and Bolivar Counties over a four-month period. Appreciation was expressed to the cattle brokers at the stockyards in Arkansas and Memphis where the cattle were sold, for their co-operation in tracing sales of the stolen cattle.

The Anchorage Inn was the meeting place Sunday evening of the talented cast of the latest Little Theatre production "Born Yesterday" which played to such large and appreciative audiences all last week. The board of directors of the Little Theatre were also present to enjoy a buffet supper. About thirty-five guests were present throughout the evening. A delicious turkey with dressing, ham, potato salad, Norwegian stew, baked tomatoes, pickles, olives, celery, hot biscuits and colored mints completed the menu.

The supper was from 8:30 p.m. to 11:30 and a most enjoyable evening was spent. Captain and Mrs. Karl Cook and Mrs. Jack Mathews were in charge of the dinner.

One of the highlights of the week for children at the Wayland School was the showing of three films on February 17th. The films shown by Mr. Clinton Lockman, Hancock County Tendency Service, were "Mark of the Southern Pine," "Masters of the Wild," and "Working with the State Forest Service." The films were enjoyed by children from all the grades.

Mrs. Ott Brockman had word from her brother's wife, Mrs. Archie Combs of New Orleans that there is another baby girl in the family. Mrs. Combs has been very ill in a New Orleans hospital and it was necessary to send operators for Annie Combs who is in the Navy somewhere in Japan. Friends are hoping for good news and are extending best wishes to mother and little daughter.

Mrs. George Golder visited Wayland Tuesday.

Dr. and Mrs. LaNess and family moved into their new home on Market Street and Beach Boulevard this week end.

Mrs. Sylvia Duncas was the guest of Mrs. Shirley Throckmorton at the home of the latter's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Throckmorton, on Horseshoe Lane.

Best wishes for a speedy recovery are extended to Mr. Ed Gibson who has been on the sick list for quite some time.

Mr. and Mrs. Chris Ladner and family spent the week end in their home on Market Street.

Mr. and Mrs. Paul Borgeson and son, Paul, Jr., spent the week end on Robert Street.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward Cario spent the week end with Mr. and Mrs. R. C. Bardege.

Mr. and Mrs. Harold Schuman spent the week end with Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Nelson on Tide Street.

Mr. and Mrs. A. B. Farris, Jr. spent the week end in New Orleans.

Mr. and Mrs. G. W. Tucker had their daughter and son-in-law over for the week end.

Mr. and Mrs. Carl Callahan spent the week end in their home on Wave-land Avenue.

Mr. Charlie Soldano and family spent the week end in their home on Market Street.

Mrs. and Mrs. Charles Johnston spent the week end with his family on Robert Street.

Mrs. E. Zeller is the guest of Mrs. G. Waldorf.

It's a daughter for Mr. and Mrs. E. J. Schmidt. The young lady who will be named Janet, was born March 20 at the Gulf.

Mrs. Harold Zimmerman turned from Lafayette, La. west to attend the chess tournament. The son of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Zimmerman, a chess champion, was in the company of Mr. and Mrs. Mary Patrick, The Honorable M. P. McCord of New York, Billy Zimmerman.

Bay St. Louis has just reason to be proud of its Little Theatre. The play week was one of the best in this area and reached a new high in amateur dramatics. We met the young lady who was responsible for the direction as well as taking the female leading role. She is not anything like the character she portrayed, of course, making it even a bigger compliment to her acting ability. Miss Betty Lee Mitchell is a natural friend and has a delicate sort of beauty. Surprisingly she has a rather deep, resonant voice and is altogether a very charming young lady. She undoubtedly deserves the orchid for this week.

With talent such as was exhibited in the play just past, I am certainly looking forward with interest to the forthcoming productions.

Mr. and Mrs. John Davis Lodge have been referred to as the "handicapped" couple in the community. Mr. Lodge is Governor of Connecticut and his vivacious young wife is the former Francesca Braggiotti. She is younger, actually, and is slimmer than her twenty-two year old daughter. She has a crown of soft blonde hair, wears simply with a braid around her head, and dancing black eyes.

If the nation was as great as the wife of the aspirant to the Governor's Mansion should do such an unbecoming thing as dance the tarantella to garner votes for her husband, they had just underestimated Francesca to start with.

Thirty years ago Francesca, her seven brothers and sisters and her father came to this country from Italy. Ship's personnel thought they were a family circus troupe. They descended on this continent like a tornado and "settled" (figure of speech) in, of all places—said old Boston!

They were all talented and Fran and her two sisters shocked the neighbors by dancing barefooted on the lawn. Another sister practiced scales all day. A brother played the piano, another painted, and still another was a Shakespeare enthusiast. The four girls were eventually admitted to the exclusive Vincent Club, of which it is rumored that the mere mention brings Bostonians into the most respectful of greetings.

The secret of the girl's acceptance into the snooty club was, of course, their mother. She herself had been a former Boston socialite and had been readily hidden into the uppermost brackets of Boston and Newport society. She married Isadore Braggiotti and went with him to live in his villa in Florence, Italy. She expired just before her family's entry into the U.S.

As so often occurs, while the Braggiottis were certainly sociably acceptable, they were no longer rich, so the three dancing daughters opened a Terbachian academy. They were quite successful.

In 1929 Francesca married John Davis Lodge. The marriage brought the expected "ish-ish" from the loftier Bostonians. You see, John was a product from one of the city's oldest and most prominent families, and although everyone liked the fair-haired, pleasant little dancer they just didn't agree that a union such as theirs would work out.

No sooner had the predictors settled down after the first shock when the young Lodges departed for New York. For a Lodge to leave Boston was a definite sign from heaven.

In a year their first daughter, Lily, was born. And then the astounding news came that Francesca was dancing on Broadway. Next she invaded Hollywood. She made a small name for herself there, but it was the handsome John Lodge who really set the excitement amongst Hollywood big-wigs. He was promptly launched into a long term contract. But John's chief interest was never acting and he failed to achieve the popularity that was expected of him.

John and Francesca then went to London. His creative instinct was born again and amazingly, he created a sensation. On one occasion he very nearly had the clothes torn off his back from souvenir seekers.

The war came and John joined the Navy. After that score he decided to make politics his career and his wife was pleased. A former Boston socialite and movie star didn't sound like the proper winning combination for a governor. But, it was. And, Francesca was right in there dancing when the campaign was hottest. She danced the tarantella, she led the crowd in singing songs; she even gave demonstrations of hair-do's to attract women voters.

John Lodge won over his opponents by 36,000 votes. What a fabulous, interesting marriage!

In case you ever feel the need to, you can use the white from an egg to seal an envelope. The envelope cannot be opened again. But, if, on the other hand, you do need to open an envelope in which you have forgotten to enclose something simply bring a cloth from cold water, place it over the seal and then run a hot iron over it.

Bread pudding supreme:
3 cups scalded milk.
2 tbs. melted butter.
3 eggs.
1/2 cup sugar.
1/4 tea. salt.
1/2 tea. vanilla.
1/2 tea. lemon extract.
1 cup toasted coconut.
1 1/2 cups bread cubes.

Scald milk, melt butter in milk. Slightly beat 3 yolks and one whole egg. Add rest of ingredients except coconut. Pour into greased baking dish, add bread cubes and then add toasted coconut. Let stand about ten minutes. Place in pan of hot water and bake at 350 degrees until firm. Take out of oven and cool. Dot with jam or jelly (any flavor) then cover with meringue made with whites of eggs. Add 4 tbs., sugar, one tbs. at a time, beating after each addition. Pile lightly on pudding and top with 1/4 cup coconut. Bake until brown.

Tip: Be sure to place in deep enough water so that it will not evaporate too quickly, because if you have to add water it changes the temperature. Let me assure you that this is a far cry from the usual method of using up stale bread. It is a glamorous, simple and simply superb. (If I may use the term) certainly worthy of being classed as even party fare. Do try it! You will never want it any other way thereafter!

At one time the area beneath a stairway was quite lost or wasted. It was usually very drab and dingy. Maybe it enclosed a closet beneath, which was expected to hold overcoats, umbrellas, etc., but needed the aid of a search light to find what was buried in its depths. If you have such a stairway and closet lets see if we can do something about it. First, paint the interior of the closet the brightest pure yellow you can buy. Now be careful —don't get a green-yellow or a gray-yellow. If you happen to have either on the place and do not wish to purchase more, then add a little white paint to it until it is the desired shade. Yellow, if true, gives the illusion of sunlight. Get the man in the house to wire a light in the closet—or hang a flash-light handily near the door inside the closet. Now—the exterior. If you cannot do the whole room over do concentrate on the wall under the stairs. I helped a friend work out a similar problem. Her walls were a rich chocolate brown, and she used many white accessories thinking to brighten the hall. She was not satisfied with her attempt and described the hallway as being "dull and depressing." She did not feel that she could invest any more since she had just finished redecorating, but I talked her into buying enough wallpaper to cover the wall space under the stairs—and promised to help her apply it. It scared her but with gentle urging she consented. I selected a paper with a wide ivory stripe, down which were interwoven sprays of huge yellow roses. The alternating stripes were in a soft turquoise matching the turquoise foliage on the roses. When we started my friend had a nondescript chair sitting under the stairway, which no one would ever use. I persuaded her to take an old dresser, that we purchased for four dollars, and paint it the same soft yellow that was in the roses. At the same time, I made her a present of an old papier-mache picture frame, which was still in good condition, and we painted it a soft ivory, had a mirror put in it and hung it over the chest.

It is inconceivable what the job did for the hallway, and also gave her a usable grouping. She has since placed a slim ladder-back chair on either side of the chest. They are painted a softer turquoise than the paper. The whole job, she agreed costless than a good roast and we had lost of fun doing it. We did have to call on her husband, however, to assist us with the paper.

'The Company She Keeps' At Hi-Way Drive-In Theatre Sun. & Mon., April 8-9

The selfish wiles of an "easy-way" cutie, who ensnares the fiancé of the girl who befriends her, springboards the gripping three-way conflict of RKO Radio's "The Company She Keeps." In the starring roles, Elizabeth Scott plays the conscientious parole officer engaged to breezy newspaper columnist Dennis O'Keefe, who is lured away by the artful charms of Jane Greer, an ex-prisoner on parole.

Produced with biting realism against the background of a Los Angeles unknown to tourists, this high-charged drama opens with Jane Greer's release from prison in the custody of parole officer Elizabeth Scott. Jane, who has been given a job as a nurse's aide, pals up with another parolee at the hospital, a definitely hard-boiled woman with a sideline of stealing meat supplies. In addition, ambushed and schooled in the hard facts of life by her stay in jail, Miss Greer wastes no time in repaying Elizabeth Scott's kindly help by making a play for the latter's fiancé, Dennis O'Keefe.

Now it becomes a primal battle of woman against woman, with Jane using every device to get her man, and with disillusioned Elizabeth Scott, in a terrific struggle between her ideals and emotions.

The resultant fireworks explode into flames of blazing action and thrill.

If song writers knew how some people would sing their songs they would probably quit working.

Senior Day Ceremonies

Peart River Junior College, Poplarville, Miss., April 4—In spite of a threat of foul weather last Thursday, March 29, representatives from nearly a score of high schools were on hand for the annual Senior Day ceremonies at Peart River Junior College.

Miss Mae Rogers, Executive Chairman of the festivities, stated that almost 250 high school seniors, faculty members, and Superintendents of Education registered Thursday morning.

Immediately following registration, college students escorted the guests on a tour of the campus which included visits to dormitories, classrooms, and recreational facilities. Refreshments were served in the college dining hall.

A general assembly was next on the program with Mr. George Vaughn, Moody of Poplarville, President of the student body, as chairman. A musical program was then followed by talks on campus life by two Freshmen students, Miss Peggy Joyce Owen of McNeill, and Mr. Bill Powell of Carriere, Miss., and a short welcome address by PRC President R. D. McLeod.

Consultation periods allowed the seniors to visit in the departments of their choice until noon, when a boxed dinner was served in the college gym. Entertainment was provided during the meal by the PRC Orchestra under the direction of Mr. Leslie Evinger, and the Physical Education Department which presented an exhibition of square dancing.

Two scholarships were awarded as a part of the day's events. Amounting to fifty dollars each, they were given to the boy and girl scoring highest on a competitive examination.

This year, the scholarships went to Miss Sylvia Johnson, a senior at McNeill High School, and Mr. Harry O'Brien, who will graduate from Piquette High School.

Other scholarships, consisting of the amount of all fees at the college were offered to the boy and girl from each school represented who have maintained the highest scholastic average.

Miss Mae Rogers stated that the event was very successful. She added, "I express my thanks to the authorities in each high school for their cooperation in this year's Senior Day, as well as to all the Peart River College Student and Faculty who aided in presenting our institution to the visiting seniors."

Method May Hike Mileage by 30 Per Cent

San Antonio, Tex.—A new motor fuel combustion process that may boost automobile mileage by 30 per cent was described here Tuesday.

Delegates to the 39th annual convention of the Western Petroleum Refiners Association were told the new method eliminates engine knock, regardless of the octane rating of the gasoline used.

Elake Reynolds, Texas Development Corporation, New York city, said the process also may boost the gasoline yield from crude oil by 15 per cent.

Large scale production of fuels for use in the knock-free process, Reynolds said, would leave refiners free to concentrate on greater yields instead of turning out expensive low-yield high octane fuels.

Reynolds described the process this way: Air alone is introduced into the cylinder on the suction stroke in such a way that a definite swirl is produced, sometimes at speeds up to 400 miles per hour.

During the compression stroke, the air continues to swirl. When the piston is almost at the top of its upward stroke, fuel injection is initiated through a nozzle across the swirling air. The resultant short distance to the spark plug where it is ignited at once.

"Since the mixture is burned continuously as rapidly as it is formed, there is no residual and gas to detonate," he said. "In short, combustion knock has been designed out of the engine."
